OCEANIDS FALL BRUNCH

in person and a little different!

Mingei International Museum Tour & Lunch

Wednesday, November 17, 2021

Oceanids members will again gather in the Fall to welcome the new academic year at our annual Fall Brunch. This year we will meet in person, but a little different! On November 17 at 10 am, we will meet at the Mingei International Museum in Balboa Park for a tour and then lunch.

We will meet outside in the museum's courtyard for coffee and conversation at 10 am, followed by a welcome from our President Nigella Hillgarth. The docent-led tour will start promptly at 10:30 am for approximately one hour. We will then go to lunch, after which we may return to the museum to explore on our own.

Lunch will be a do-it-yourself activity, not a group lunch. There are a variety of restaurants with outside dining in the park and also sandwich spots to pick up and picnic outside. In October we will send more details along with a registration form for the tour. The tour costs $7 per person and includes general admission for the full day. Mingei members and Passport holders are free of charge. We look forward to seeing you on November 17. If you have questions, please contact 1st Vice President, Kim Signoret-Paar, kspaar@outlook.com.

President's Message

Dear Oceanids,

I hope you had a good summer full of friends and family despite the ongoing travails of the times.

At the time of writing it seems unlikely that we can get together in person indoors before the end of October and maybe not until the beginning of next year depending on university regulations.

Don't forget that you can check on the website re events <https://returntolearn.ucsd.edu/resources/event-planning/index.ht>

COVID-19 Event Planning and Attendance - Return to Learn

COVID-19 Event Planning and Attendance Event Definition "Event" means any planned gathering at a UC San Diego Location, including but not limited to celebrations, dances, lectures, forums, performances, social gatherings, concerts, speaker presentations, conferences or athletic contests or tournaments where 25 or more people are in attendance or are reasonably anticipated to be in attendance.

returntolearn.ucsd.edu for up-to-date information for UC San Diego.

If things change we will let you know via the listserv, however interest groups that can meet outdoors will hopefully be able to get together this Fall.

Virtual programs such as Sounding Board and several of the interest groups will be meeting again via zoom starting in September and I am looking forward to the exciting speakers that Nellie has lined up for us on Sounding Board. I will finish by sharing one of my favorite bird photos of the summer: A little Blue Heron and a Snowy Egret side-by-side on the San Diego River. To me it's sums up the Ying and Yang of the year!

Very best wishes, Nigella

Important News from Oceanids Interest Groups

These days, though, The Mighty Oceanids Book Goup is stumbling around between Zoom and in-person meetings on someone's patio. This changes daily, it seems. We also are quite reduced in number and would benefit from the participation of you and your friends.

During the Pandemic, the Oceanids Café Español group, usually meets on the second and fourth Thursday of the month. So, our October Virtual meetings will be on Thursday October 14th, and 28th from 2:00 pm to 3:30 pm. We will meet on Thursday November 11th as well.

As always, I will send out a reminder email a week before the meeting. Alicia Meneses Couples Bridge and Oceanids day-time bridge meetings are on hiatus until the University allows indoor meetings.

There is the very little news from the French group.

We had all last year in Zoom meeting. Some of our members missed the in person meetings but others, mostly living a little further away or still being very busy otherwise, appreciated the practicality of the zoom.

I did a little survey on the matter in July. We will be alternating zoom and in person meetings. We start with zoom in October then in person in November. We will also follow the CDC guidelines so we'll see how things develop in winter.

Voila !

Gardening with California Native Plants has been meeting by zoom. We took a break during the summer, when most CA plants are dormant and not much is happening in the garden except deadheading finished blooms. We will have a zoom meeting on a Monday morning at 10 am by zoom, TBA by chair Judy Vacquier when it cools off and we can think about fall planting.

"No events on campus until after October 31" applies to the Kitchen Exchange and all the New-comer activities.

The Moveable Feast II is not meeting. We'll plan a Zoom meeting in the fall. And, as soon as possible, meet in person!

The Piano Soiree is still meeting by zoom the third or fourth Sunday of each month at 3 pm. Michael Gorman is acting as "disc jockey," putting together a program from the recordings we send him and playing our pieces after we each introduce our piece. People make comments during the piece in "chat" and applaud and comment after each piece. We have enjoyed meeting once a month by zoom throughout the pandemic. It has given everyone an anchor during the isolation and beautiful music to perform and listen to once a month. The next three meetings will be September 26th; October 24th and November 21st. We may decide to go back to meeting at each others' homes so check with chair Judy Vacquier each month.

Wine Tasting I and II

We are planning our October Virtual meeting on Friday October 15th at 7:00 pm. We will meet by our usual schedule of the second Friday of the month in November, on November 12th. As always, we will send out a reminder email a week before the meeting.

Dear Free Clinic Family,

It's been another great academic year at the UCSD Student-Run Free Clinic Project! Thank you to those who were able to attend our Annual Celebration on June 8th and to everyone who has supported us.

In addition, please enjoy our latest edition of the newsletter which highlights many of the great things that we've been working on recently.

A friend of mine has a bag of stamps that she has saved for the now defunct Stamp Group. Are there any Oceanid Stampies left? (Does anyone remember what a stamp is?). Please let me know if you want these stamps and I'll pass on your contact info (I'm in the directory).

Fond memories of the Munk Home!

There have been many articles about the Munk house in the La Jolla Light lately. Walter and Judith donated their house to UCSD with the idea that it could be used as the SIO Director's house or in support of his lab at the Institute of Geophysics and Planetary Physics. Mary Coakley Munk, the third wife whom Walter married after Judith's passing, applied for and got the house placed on the National Register of Historic Places on July 12 despite opposition from the Munk daughters and UCSD. The house will be placed on the market soon and some lucky multi-millionaire will be able to buy it.

The Munks were very generous in sharing their home with the community: we attended many Planned Parenthood and San Diego Opera fundraisers and heard countless liberal political candidates there.

Every Memorial Day for decades, the Oceanids Newcomers had a potluck lunch with entertainment there. (Newcomers are post-docs, visiting scholars and sabbatical people.) Walter and Judith would sit at the name tag table and greet people, always asking where they were from and whose lab they were working in here at UCSD.

Walter knew scientists from all over the world and would ask about friends/colleagues in the country that the Newcomer was from. The cost of admission to this affair was a platter of food from their home country. After the stupendous buffet of maybe 50-60 different ethnic dishes, Georgina Sham's group of Balboa Park folk dancers would invite people from the audience to come up to the stage in the backyard amphitheater and join in the dances from their home country. Many people have told me over the years that this event was the highlight of their stay at UCSD!

Another time, Walter and Judith allowed 64 Newcomers to enjoy an evening concert in their home performed by two Newcomers. One was an Italian classical pianist and theoretical physicist postdoc of Lu Sham's, who partnered with a German/Indonesian/Chinese violinist and neurologist at the Salk. The Munks had Walter's family Steinway tuned for the concert, and it sounded great despite it being over 100 years old.

For these reasons, we first thought that the house could be turned into a perfect small conference center/party house like T-29/the Martin Johnson House. The magical open-air amphitheater in the garden, where Georgina's group used to dance, would be a focal point for every event, as Judith had designed it to be.

At Princeton, New Jersey, tourists can visit Albert Einstein's home. Walter has been called the "Einstein of the Oceans" and we thought that it might be appropriate to open his house as well, so that the wider community could glimpse some of this history. It would, we thought, be a victory of historical remembrance over forgetfulness to keep a piece of important SIO/UCSD history amidst the high rises that are going up all over campus!

"How can I take better photos with my cellphone? Photograph at night ... make a B&W photo ... remove a telephone line?"

Create spectacular photographs with your cellphone anywhere you are, everywhere you go.

Do you want to take stunning photos with your cellphone? Kim will share composition/editing tips and add-on apps that will dramatically improve your photos.

Kim uses her camera to create images that tell stories from fleeting moments or from structures around us. She won her first competition with a B&W photo of a boy in a tree when she was thirteen. With a degree in journalism from the University of Iowa, she went west in 1980. Her career in California and Mexico focused on public relations, publishing, and fundraising. In 2009, Kim returned to creating art with her camera and in the summer of 2014, she won Best of Show at the International Exhibition of Photography at the San Diego County Fair. In addition to showing her photography in various venues, Kim teaches iPhoneography at the UCSD Retirement Center.

An adventure

Yes, we were going to give it a try. Having been long-time patrons of the SD symphony we had not been to a concert at the new shell before. Last time I visited this location was by kayak and to hear Peter, Paul and Mary for free.

This shell was a super-shell, complete with complicated lighting and huge loudspeakers. But let me go back a step. Our friend Katie was willing to drive us, my sister and me and her husband Chuck, there since she had been to the introductory special at the shell in July. Not having been in downtown San Diego for a while I felt that I was in a different city. But Katie managed various detours and dead ends and we finally found ourselves in the paid-for parking garage. Which way to exit? Just follow the people. Which we did and lo and behold the shell, less of a shell and more like a giant white fish trap or mouth of a manta ray, was shining brightly before us. Following the crowd we arrived at an airport security check, complete with checking purses for liquids and being scanned for explosives (?). We passed.

We had a great table for 4, all the tables were quite close together, and we were reasonably near to the stage. If only the gentleman in front of me did not have such a healthy built and broad back. Anyway, drinks were ordered and promptly delivered to the table. And the show could begin.

It was a beautiful concert, to my untrained ear the sound was excellent. The big TV screens on either side of the stage were a bit distracting but probably necessary. And the 1812 overture ended with the customary fire works.

All in all we had a good time with great company and beautiful music. But I think, next time I will rather sent the symphony a check and put on a record
